

Press Release n.3

Florence August 7th 2007

DigiFestival.net –2007 Edition

DigiFestival.net – 2007Edition is ready to start. The festival categories this year are: Music, Movies, Video Art, Animation and Sport Video with high level international guests among the jurors and the participants that are up to now more than 200. Right at midnight (GTM) between August 14th and 15th the screenings will be on line giving the possibility to everybody to look at the works of art on the DigiFestival.net website and to vote them. The DigiFestival.net Final Event will take place in October in partnership with the Festival della Creatività, with a program full of conferences, events and performances.

The DigiFestival.net – 2007 Edition is ready to start. By the midnight (GTM) between August 14th and 15th more than 200 videos coming from all countries of the world will be on line on the festival official website– www.digifestival.net - everybody will be able to watch and vote them till September 15th.

The Festival Categories this year are: Music, Movies, Video Art, Animation and Sport Video. The participants are coming from 35 nations worldwide. Also this year DigiFestival.net enforces its value of international event promoting art in all its forms despite all geographical and cultural boundaries through the Internet, which becomes a high level tool to make people connect with creativity.

Also for this second edition all Internet users will choose the best video through the electronic form present on each artist's page. There you will find also the artist's biography, e-mail and website a resume of all his videos and all the images related to the artist's activity.

Furthermore a technical jury will vote the winning video of each Festival Category plus two special mentions. Our quality jurors this year are: Roli Mosimann (Music), Christopher Cooke (Movies), Jerry King Musser (Video Art), Silvano Mezzatesta (Animation), Franco Morabito (Sport Video).

Up to October 25th to the 28th in partnership with the Festival Della Creativita' the DigiFestival.net Final Event will take place in Florence (Italy) with 4 full days of screenings, conferences and events. As part of the program some of the full-length films not involved in the DigiFestival.net Internet competition will be shown here, then on Saturday 27th the DigiFestival.net 2007 Awards will take place by ending with the Jojo Meyer's great concert performance, only show in Italy.

For information:

www.digifestival.net

Laura Cellerini Press&PR
staff@digichannel.net